Although the idea of creating 'winning performance strategies' is common in business and sports studies, no one has ever really attempted to bring the psychology of creating a winning performance to a book on auditioning. The astronaut analogy is an interesting one if we care to follow it .

The people behind the audition desk are looking for a killer audition often and begin to see tangible improvements in your playing that transfer to the stage. The list of questions is endless, and fortunately, there are a growing number of musicians – like trombonists Douglas Yeo and Toby Oftand percussionist Rob Knopper – who have opened up about their audition preparation strategies and philosophies. Meet new people and keep a sense of humour – you will need it! Have fun. So grab that magazine, and follow the steps below: . The only way to learn how to do them better is by doing .
